KAY'S PERINATAL CROSSWORD PUZZLE JPE 9 - 3

ACROSS

1 This study provides insights about the potential effects of maternal prenatal ___ on the risk of early infant obesity. (Sowan/S)

4 The number of U.S. children that are overweight has ___ in the last 20 years. (Sowan/Stember)

8 Shannon feels ___ and encouraged to continue to try to make a difference by writing letters. (Perry)

9 More than one in ___ adolescents were found to be overweight by US Dept. of Agriculture in 1995. (Sowan/Stember)

10 At the Constructed Knowing level, both the heart and the mind are fully active in seeking ___ through questioning and dialogue. (Wilkerson)

11 ___ Learning teaches trust of inner wisdom. (Wilkerson)

12 Shannon encourages us to think about what needs to be different and what we can do to facilitate the change from a need into a ___. (Perry)

15 ___ Learning uses labor rehearsals to help parents strategize how they might wish to respond. (Wilkerson)

17 The first assumption about couples as adult learners is that the learning is the responsibility of the ___. (Wilkerson)

18 Because at least half of the learners in CBE classes are women, it is important to be familiar with Women's Ways of ___. (Wilkerson)

22 In future letters, Shannon will word her criticisms more ___. (Perry)

25 ___ is the probability that an individual will develop a specific condition and is affected by a variety of influences. (Sowan/S)

26 Genetic makeup alone cannot explain the increasing prevalence of ___ in developing countries. (Sowan/Stember)

27 Shannon provides an example of correspondence that resulted in ___ of a major medical textbook. (Perry)

28 A position of not knowing, where the learner feels voiceless, powerless, and mindless, is called ___. (Wilkerson)

29 Infant obesity was identified as a public health problem more than ___ decades ago. (Sowan/Stember)

30 Smoke-affected infants were more likely to be ___ from age 6 to 14 months. (Sowan/Stember)

31 Sharon learned that editors and authors do listen to those who ___ their work. (Perry)

32 You need to be willing to be challenged, ignored, mocked, or even ___ when you start to change your approach to status quo. (Perry)

DOWN

1 Avoid the overuse of words as "___" and "must" when giving directions. (Wilkerson)

2 Shannon was moved to write an author when he stated that the obstetrician's ___ was more important than his patient's. (Perry)

3 Childbirth educators are challenged to assist couples in their classes to become ___ learners. (Wilkerson)

5 ___ Learning assembles items into a safe system of directions. (Wilkerson)

6 This paper discusses the importance of assisting mothers to cease smoking during ___. (Sowan/Stember)

7 Evidence suggests that smoke-affected infants catch up in weight by ___ months. (Sowan/Stember)

12 ___ Learning addresses the question of "why" one decision is more appropriate than another. (Wilkerson)

13 Staying ___ and well-read is perhaps the biggest challenge for the would-be change agent. (Perry)

14 An example of ___ Learning would be the introduction of the initial skill of paced breathing in a structured manner. (Wilkerson)

16 ___ Learning is cultural; the mores, folkways, rites, rituals, and accepted ways of birthing. (Wilkerson)

19 ___ Knowers value multiple approaches to knowing. (Wilkerson)

20 This article's purpose is to instigate ___ of current childbirth education practice. (Wilkerson)

21 A position in which knowing is personal, private, and based on intuition and/or feeling states. (Wilkerson)

23 Infants born to smoking mothers weigh ___ at birth than infants born to nonsmoking mothers. (Sowan/Stember)

24 Shannon's strategy for change is writing ___. (Perry)

By Kay Raheja RN, FACCE

(Answers found on page 50.)