FROM EDITOR'S DESK

The association of Clinical Biochemists of India and the editorial board of Indian Journal of Clinical Biochemistry decided to bring out this special Supplement in the New Millennium Year in addition to the January and July issues. This supplement consists of reviews only, by experts from India and abroad on different aspects of clinical biochemistry, which invariably are in the areas of interest of the experts. This obviously does not cover all the areas of clinical biochemistry. The reviews by the Indian experts project the interests and some areas of their work as well as up-to-date information on these aspects.

I am particularly thankful to M/S Trans Asia Biomedicals Ltd., Mumbai who sponsored this supplement.
