As of vol 26, International Orthopaedics has made it possible to publish short reports such as case reports and technical notes on the SICOT Web site, <http://www.sicot.org/case-reports.html>. The reports are available in full text for all – both as html files that can be read by any Web browser, and as pdf files for which it is necessary to have installed the free Adobe Acrobat Reader.

The presentations also will be announced on the SICOT World Portal (<http://www.SicotWorld.org>). This is a new and exciting secure Web site accessible to members of SICOT, the scientific content of which is shared with members of other great orthopaedic organisations.

A listing of published online reports will appear in each volume of International Orthopaedics. Here, in this issue, you will find the first list of reports published online during 2002. Please take the time to read these interesting contributions to our journal.
