Letter From the Editor

Dear Fellows of the ACCWS,

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the college and for this occasion the college will hold its annual membership meeting and reception at AMP prevention conference in Chicago on August 14. The college will also participate at the educational program on wound care which will take place on August 14th and 15th. The Amputation Prevention conference is a well-established vascular conference held yearly in downtown Chicago at the Palmer House Hilton Hotel. I invite you to save the date and join us to enjoy the conference and show your support and commitment to the college. For more details please refer to the attached AMP educational program.

In collaboration with Elsevier, our publisher, the journal will continue to be issued in electronic and hard copy for an additional year. In January 2016 the journal will become an open public access. This means that with the accepted manuscripts the authors will incur a small cost which will cover posting their papers online. This will speed up the publication process and place the manuscript immediately on PubMed Central which will automatically post them on PubMed. I encourage you to submit your manuscripts to the journal for consideration.

Thank you for your continued support to the college and to the journal.

Sincerely,

*Richard Simman, MD, FACS, FACCWS
Editor in Chief, JACCWS*
