Closer Scientific Collaboration with the European Heart Rhythm Association

Welcome to our final issue of 2016. This year has been a busy one for Arrhythmia & Electrophysiology Review: the start of the year saw the journal's launch on PubMed Central with indexing of all articles on PubMed, increasing visibility of articles to the global cardiology community.

Our ongoing partnership with the European Heart Rhythm Association (EHRA) has been strengthened with the publication of a regular EHRA editorial in the journal, updating readers on new initiatives, and in this issue, for the first time, we include an executive summary of the latest EHRA consensus document on management of supraventricular arrhythmias.

The journal's online portal, www.AERjournal.com has just been re-launched with a clean new design, providing an improved user experience and more intuitive structure that should prove easier to navigate. We would welcome your feedback on the changes.

We would like to extend thanks to all the contributors, peer reviewers and readers, for your continued support of Arrhythmia & Electrophysiology Review during 2016. We look forward to bringing you more high-quality clinical reviews, editorials and opinion pieces in 2017.

Demosthenes Katritsis,
Editor-in-Chief, Arrhythmia & Electrophysiology Review
Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, Harvard Medical School, Boston, USA