Now, if I am asked if I believe that blue glass cured me, I can only answer, as the man in the Bible. 'Whereas I was blind, now I see.' And this reminds me that both my sight and hearing were effected by the attacks of pain, and that both are perfectly restored."

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL.

Vick's Illustrated Catalogue and Floral Guide, 1878. Published by James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

This enterprising florist has issued another of his annual periodicals, profusely illustrated, which must prove a valuable guide to all interested in the Flower and Vegetable Garden. Some seventy pages are devoted to a description of all of the most beautiful and popular Annuals, Climbers, Perennials, and valuable Vegetables, &c., with full directions for their proper culture and preservation.

Several years experience with the seed furnished by Mr. Vick, proves their excellence, and the reliable manner in which this business is conducted.

An Illustrated Monthly Magazine by the same publisher, is replete with valuable information, the January No. containing a beautiful and elegant colored plate representing Phlox and Pansy. Each number will contain thirty-two pages, printed on the best paper, making for the year a volume of nearly four hundred pages, and twelve colored plates. The subscription price is but $1.25 a year; or to a club of five but one dollar each. The style in which it is embellished renders this new monthly one of the most handsome periodicals published, and is a credit to its well known author, and we are assured that it will be duly appreciated, and be abundantly successful.

Music Publications:—

From time to time we have received from F. W. Helmick, of 50 W. Fourth St., Cincinnati, Ohio, beautiful pieces of music adapted for the piano or organ. Some ten pieces are sent for $1.00, which is a remarkably low price.
