In the section headed ‘Thyrotoxicosis’, the first sentence should read, ‘Graves’ disease is occasionally associated with acute psychosis, as shown by at least nine case reports and Brownlie’s survey in New Zealand’. The words, ‘Note that this patient had myxoedema’ belong to the second case report, 3 paragraphs lower down, which should end ‘With thyroxin and risperidone she recovered within six days. Note that this patient had myxoedema’.
