CORRECTIONS | HEPATOLOGY, VOL. 65, NO. 2, 2017

In the November 2016 issue of HEPATOLOGY, in the Liver Capsule titled “FXR Agonists Against Liver Disease” (volume 64, page 1773; doi: 10.1002/hep.28836), by Claudia D. Fuchs, Philipp Schwabl, Thomas Reiberger, and Michael Trauner, the arrow below bile acid synthesis in the lower left corner points into the wrong direction; it should point from cholesterol to bile acids (CA, CDCA).

We apologize for this mistake.

DOI: 10.1002/hep.28969

In the November 2016 issue of HEPATOLOGY, in the article titled “Angiopoietin-like Protein 1 Antagonizes MET Receptor Activity to Repress Sorafenib Resistance and Cancer Stemness in Hepatocellular Carcinoma” (volume 64, pages 1637-1651; doi: 10.1002/hep.28773), by Hsin-An Chen, Tsang-Chih Kuo, Chi-Feng Tseng, Jui-Ti Ma, Shu-Ting Yang, Chia-Jui Yen, Ching-Yao Yang, Shian-Ying Sung, and Jen-Liang Su, the representative image of flow cytometry assay of CD133 in Huh7/shANGPTL1/shLuc in Fig. 3B was incorrect. The correct image is as follows:

We apologize for this mistake.

DOI: 10.1002/hep.28996